Synopsis

Alexis can't wait to show off her costume and her gorgeous husband at the event dubbed "the Gala of the Season" by all noteworthy society pages. Excited to share this experience with her successful and talented husband, she thinks she has paid full attention to every single detail: from her selection of her costume down to the sexy lingerie she has chosen to wear beneath it, she eagerly awaits the passionate love-making that will cap the evening. Little does she know that her husband has some ideas of his own as to how the night will end. Thus begins the first tale of many as we follow Alexis down the path to sexual decadence and debauchery as she awakens to discover all she has been missing.
